

On Friday, December 14, 2007, a delegation of individuals, lead by Mike Murray, from Portland's sister city in Russia, Archangel, took the opportunity to visit several islands in Casco Bay. Their last stop was Peaks where they were greeted by Island Council Members Tom Bohan, Kathryn Moxhay and Rob Tiffany.

After coffee and conversation at Lisa's, a tour of Peaks Island was lead by Katherine and Dianna Moxhay and Tom Bohan, all of whom were able to converse with our visitors in their native language. They were most interested in Peaks Island since several members of the delegation lived on remote islands in the region and were most interested in how islanders live here compared to their own islands. Though only lasting slightly under two hours, the visit was a wonderful opportunity to join two cultures together over coffee and a quick tour of Peaks Island.
