

Julie Fisher Melton was a Program Officer at the Kettering Foundation for eight years, in charge of the international fellows program. She is currently completing a book under contract with the foundation, entitled From Within: Democratization NGOs in South Africa, Tajikistan and Argentina. She is the author of two other books on NGOs, The Road from Rio : Sustainable Development and the Nongovernmental Movement in the Third World (Praeger:1993) and Nongovernments: NGOs and the Political Development of the Third World (Kumarian: 1997).

Before joining the Kettering Foundation in 1997, she was a Scholar in Residence at the Program on Non-Profit Organizations at Yale University, and a lecturer in the Biology Department for a course on World Population. She previously taught comparative politics and a course called The Politics of Third World Development at Connecticut College. As a specialist on nongovernmental organizations and microenterprise development, Julie has been a consultant to numerous international agencies, including CIVICUS, Technoserve,, CARE, Trickle Up, Lutheran World Relief and Save the Children. She is a Consulting Editor for the Nonprofit and Voluntary Sector Quarterly and a member of the Association for Research on Nonprofit Organizations and Voluntary Action (ARNOVA) as well as the International Society for Third Sector Research.

Julie received her B.A. in international studies at Pomona College, in Claremont, California. She received her M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies in Washington, DC.